Democracy Federal Credit Union Featured on Urban One Radio

Washington, DC — Democracy Federal Credit Union is proud to announce that its Interim President and CEO, Andrena Smith, was recently featured on Boss Talk, a leadership-focused segment airing on Urban One Radio.

The segment spotlights influential leaders across the DC metropolitan area, providing a platform to share not only professional accomplishments but also personal stories, values, and life experiences that have shaped their leadership journeys. During the interview, Andrena Smith spoke about her path to leadership, her passion for community-focused service, and the mission-driven work of Democracy Federal Credit Union.

The segment aired across 5 of Urban One Radio's English-speaking stations throughout the DMV, expanding the visibility of Democracy Federal Credit Union and reinforcing its commitment to meeting the financial needs of the communities it serves.

As part of the experience, Smith toured Urban One Radio's facilities, visited multiple stations, and met with on-air personalities and staff, gaining behind-the-scenes insight into one of the region's most influential media networks.

"I am incredibly proud to represent Democracy Federal Credit Union," said Mrs. Smith. "This opportunity reflects our willingness to step outside the box, share our story authentically, and continue building meaningful connections throughout our communities."

Democracy Federal Credit Union looks forward to continued opportunities to highlight its leadership, mission, and impact through innovative platforms such as Urban One Radio.
